Sovereign Bank is a Member FDIC and a wholly owned subsidiary of Banco Santander, S.A. © 2011 Sovereign Bank | Sovereign and Santander, its logo and FlexLock are registered trademarks of Sovereign Bank and Santander, respectively, or their affiliates or subsidiaries in the United States and other countries. *To get the FlexLock Home Equity Line of Credit Fixed Introductory APR and variable "go to" APR shown, you must apply between 9/26/11 and 12/31/11, must have or open a Sovereign checking account, and use automatic payment (ePay) from that account. To get the variable "go to" APR shown, you must obtain a credit line of $100,000-$750,000. The introductory APR will apply only during the first 12 billing cycles after your FlexLock line is opened. Thereafter, the APR, including the APR on any existing balance, will convert to the applicable variable "go to" APR. The "go to" APR on FlexLock line may vary monthly based on the latest U.S. Prime Rate as published in The Wall Street Journal as of the first business day of the month, plus a margin of 1.24% (now 4.49% APR). Maximum APR is 18%. Minimum APR is 3.24%. After the Introductory APR expires, the interest rate will increase by 0.25% if ePay is discontinued. FlexLock Lines with lower credit limits are available. Contact us for information about applicable rates and other terms. All APRs assume that your total mortgage loans, including your FlexLock line, do not exceed 80% of the value of your 1 - 4 family owner-occupied residential property in NY. Other rates and terms apply to co-ops. There is a $450 termination fee if you close the line within 36 months. An annual fee, if any, will be charged during the Draw Period, and will be $0, $25 or $50, depending on the Sovereign deposit account you maintain, and may change if you change the deposit account. The annual fee will equal $0 as long as you maintain a Sovereign Premier, Business Owner Premier or Premier Partnership Checking Account or Premier Money Market Savings Account. An annual fee of $25 will be charged as long as you maintain a Sovereign Preferred or Preferred Partnership Checking Account or Preferred Money Market Savings Account. An annual fee of $50 will be charged if you do not maintain one of the above deposit accounts. A $175 non-refundable fee will be charged if your property is held in trust. Mortgage recording tax will be paid by Sovereign, but must be reimbursed if the line is closed within 36 months. There is a $50 fixed rate lock fee for each lock-in request. Property insurance is, and flood insurance may be, required. FlexLock account use is subject to the terms of the Sovereign Home Equity Line of Credit Agreement, including terms that permit lines to be suspended, reduced or terminated in certain circumstances. Maximum line amount is $750,000. If your home is on the market for sale at the time of application, you are not eligible for this offer. Offer not available if you have received an introductory rate on a FlexLock line within 12 months of your application date. APRs and other terms accurate as of 9/26/11 and may change thereafter. Applications subject to approval. Check with your tax advisor.

MTA to add more weekend L trains

NEW YORK. Riders on the L train may not have to battle — as much — for elbow room next year.

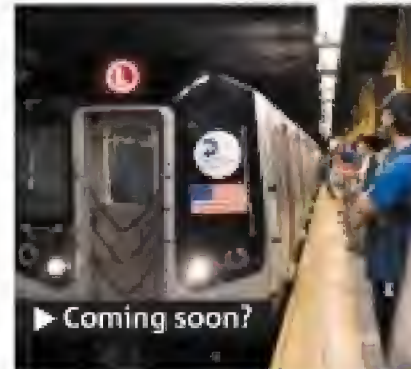

State senator Daniel Squadron announced yesterday that the MTA will improve service on the crowded line. The MTA will add one more train on weekdays between 9 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. beginning in December, according to the transit authority.

The MTA also promised to begin adding more L trains on the weekends starting in mid-2012, probably sometime next summer. "Improving weekend L service is a step toward a subway system that keeps up with its riders," said Squadron, who did a study of the line.

The MTA admitted that service did not match a "meteoric" rise in riders: Ridership has increased by 141 percent since 1998, ► Coming soon?

but service increased by only about 50 percent on Saturdays and Sundays.

The agency also promised to evaluate overall L train service and denied a request for more weekend service on the F train, which Squadron had also evaluated. ● METRO/AB

Wall Street taken over by living dead

► Costumed protesters swarm the Financial District ► Almost '28 Days Later,' protesters still here ► But those who work downtown not laughing

If you noticed zombies shuffling through the Financial District yesterday, it wasn't filming for a new horror movie.

Instead, it was the Occupy Wall Street protesters sending the message to those who work in the neighborhood that they are unthinking drones who act more like zombies than people.

The protesters mocked corporate jobs even as they continued to voice discontent over unemployment.

"It's not just corporate people," said 22-year-old Alex Krales. "A lot of us feel that it is our duty to make money all the time and completely ignore any other needs we have in life. I just quit my full-time job that had literally sucked away my soul because I felt like I needed to make money."

But some who stopped by to watch the protesters-turned-zombies didn't quite relate.

"It's not fair, because you could say the same for any worker who is holding down a regular job, whether they are on Wall Street or Silicon Valley or just a 9-to-5 teacher — or anybody else for the most part," said Rupak R., an electronic trader who works on Wall Street.

► Occupy Wall Street demonstrators march on Broadway dressed as corporate flesh-eaters.

They want Ray Kelly canned

NEW YORK. At a small press conference in front of City Hall yesterday, about 20 protesters spoke out against what they call police brutality during the arrests of some 700 protesters on the Brooklyn Bridge over the weekend.

Protester Faith Laugier said the main aggressors were police supervisors in white shirts. "To be held in these tight cuffs is cruel, inhumane treatment and I'd like to draw attention to that," Laugier said.

Protesters again called for the resignation of Police Commissioner Ray Kelly. ● METRO/CG

Midtown cops shoot, kill armed homeless woman

► Police fired several times, hitting her in torso ► One group says they didn't need to kill her ► But cops say they only fired after she lunged at them with a knife

Two NYPD officers shot and killed a homeless woman brandishing a knife Sunday night, a move that at least one group is decrying as unnecessary and poor police tactics.

Police said that around 8:30 p.m., officers responded to a dispute involving a knife at East 45th Street near Second Avenue.

The woman, 57, who was reportedly homeless and fighting with another woman, was holding two knives that officers ordered her to drop. When she refused and lunged at officers, according to the cops, the two officers fired

Quoted

"When you have several officers shooting at a woman, I mean, come on." LISA ORTEGA several times, hitting her in the torso. She was pronounced dead at Bellevue Hospital.

Even though it has not been reported that the woman was mentally ill, Lisa Ortega, of Rights for Imprisoned People with Psychiatric Disabilities, said officers should only shoot as a last resort.

"They had other things they could have used," she said, adding that they could have used a Taser or shot her in the legs. "You're dealing with someone who lives in a homeless situation; you have to expect people to be high-strung. Your mind should be prepared for high escalation."

"The last result would be to use your firearm. I don't know what kind of target practice they get, but it doesn't seem like they meant to maim," she added.

► Gov. Andrew Cuomo with main squeeze Sandra Lee.

Cuomo a top pick for 2016

NEW YORK. He's second fiddle only to Hillary.

New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo came out near the top in a poll of New Hampshire Democrats as their choice to run for the White House in 2016. He was beat only by Hillary Rodham Clinton, should she decide to run again.

Cuomo is enjoying a high approval rating among New York state voters. Nationally, many credit him with getting same-sex marriage legalized here, a promise both Eliot Spitzer and David Paterson before him failed to make good on.

Cuomo has given no intention whether he plans to seek higher office, and he even made it clear that he doesn't want to speak at the Democratic National Convention next year.

Cuomo beat out other Democrats in the poll, including former Wisconsin Sen. Russ Feingold and Massachusetts Gov. Deval Patrick. • METRO/CB

Hate crimes up in Queens; steady in Brooklyn, Bronx

► Hate crimes remain steady in boroughs ► Gay man most recent victim last month in Bed-Stuy ► Minorities also vulnerable to assault and slurs

One year ago this week, seven Bronx men were arrested for a string of anti-gay attacks. They burned their victims with cigarettes and sodomized them with baseball bats, said police — all because they thought they were gay.

The brutal assaults shocked New Yorkers, especially after a summer when multiple Latino men were attacked and harassed in Staten Island.

A year later, despite the legalization of gay marriage and an outspoken, openly gay City Council speaker, hate crimes in New York City remain steady. In one borough, Queens, hate crime prosecutions are even on the rise, Metro found.

In June, six Queens teens were charged with murder as a hate crime, after they allegedly beat to death Anthony Collao, an 18-year-old Long Island man they thought was gay. Collao had a girlfriend, according to reports, but was leaving a party thrown by two gay men when he was attacked.

And in May, a Bronx man fled a group chasing him with knives while yelling "tranny," according to court documents.

Just last month, City Council Speaker Christine Quinn, who is a lesbian, canvassed the Bed-Stuy neighborhood where another 24-year-old man was robbed and called anti-gay slurs on his way home.

"This ... goes against the very fiber of what our city stands for," Quinn said in a statement. "New York City prides itself on diversity."

Breast Cancer: Know Your Risks

Presented by NYU Cancer Institute, an NCI-designated Cancer Center

This program is designed to help women understand the factors that put them at a higher risk level for breast cancer. Our presentation will provide women with the tools they need to make more informed lifestyle decisions, in an effort to decrease vulnerability to breast cancer. In addition, we will highlight environmental factors that can impact these risks, and boost awareness about how these factors can affect women everywhere.

Alexis Steinman, daughter of deceased 2011 Nobel Prize winner Ralph Steinman, speaks at a press conference in front of a photo of her father at Rockefeller University.

Deceased prof will retain Nobel Prize

Nobel Committee honored New York City professor with highest honor without realizing he died last week

A New York City-based scientist who won the 2011 Nobel prize for medicine yesterday died of the disease just days before he could be told of the award.

Calling it "bittersweet" news, colleagues of Canadian-born Ralph Steinman, who taught at Rockefeller University on the Upper East Side, said he had prolonged his own life with a new therapy based on his research into the body's immune system.

But the 68-year-old

"We were like 'OK Dad, I know things aren't going well but the Nobel, they are going to announce it next Monday.' And he's like: 'I know, I have got to hold out for that. They don't give it to you if you have passed away.'" physician, who joked last week with his family about hanging on until the annual prize announcement, died on Friday after a four-year battle with pancreatic cancer.

ALEXIS STEINMAN

Rules set up in 1974 prevent the Nobel Committee from awarding the prizes posthumously, unless death has occurred after the announcement of the Nobel Prize. But the committee announced Steinman as a winner without knowing of his death. REUTERS

Our Aim is to Beat Most Offers!

We Strive to Beat All Legitimate Written Offers

Before Bringing your items to us, take them to other dealers. Have them give you legitimate offers in writing. Then bring your jewelry and written offers to one of our locations. Although no one can guarantee with certainty they are paying the highest price for an article at any particular time, we will strive to beat most legitimate written offers.

Why We Can Usually Pay More Than Other Dealers

Most jewelers and dealers specialize in few items and focus on newer looking items to resell. Because they are unfamiliar with many other items including vintage jewelry, old watches, coins, flatware, etc. they tend to offer very low prices because these items are not readily saleable for them. Our company has many specialized buyers for the various classifications of items that we purchase, therefore we can usually pay more.

A Note Regarding the Up To Prices Listed in this Ad

The condition and rarity of an item determines its price. If an item is in excellent condition and very rare it might be worth the up to price, or even more. However, if an item is in poor condition, the value will be lower. For example, a 1927 S Quarter could be worth $7,000 in new condition or less than $20 in poor condition. The up to price reflects items of exceptional quality and rarity. Although it is unlikely you will have these items due to their extreme rarity, feel free to bring whatever items you may have and we will evaluate them free of charge.

Customer Satisfaction

Most of our business comes from satisfied customers and referrals which includes their friends and families. Our showrooms are safe and private. Our staff is courteous and professional and we strive as a company to make your selling experience a pleasant one.

Why You Should Sell Now!

The Economy & Market Value

The recent downturn of our economy during the last three years has caused gold and other precious metal prices to soar to the highest levels of all time. This is the reason this is best time to sell before prices drop.

Get Cash Immediately

Our professional staff will provide you with a speedy evaluation and make all payments in cash.

No Charge

We do not charge for our consultations. Find out how much cash your unwanted items will put in your pocket. Many customers have been surprised and delighted by the amount of money they received.

Safe, Secure & Friendly

Our showrooms are safe and private. Our staff is courteous and professional and we strive as a company to make your selling experience a pleasant one.

Licensed, Bonded & Insured

We are licensed, bonded and insured in all cities and towns in which we conduct business.

Help the Environment

Using recycled precious metals for jewelry is an important way for jewelers to source precious metals more responsibly. Precious metals that have already been used in some way, including "vintage," "renewed," or "reclaimed" metals from jewelry and electronics, are not directly implicated in the destructive impacts of mining. They do not share responsibility for the impacts of mining in the same way that newly mined gold does.

Knox exonerated

► Italian court overturns conviction of American girl held for three years over the high-profile murder of British student Meredith Kercher

An Italian court cleared 24-year-old American Amanda Knox and her former boyfriend of murdering British student Meredith Kercher in 2007 and ordered them to be set free yesterday after nearly four years in prison for a crime they always denied committing.

Seattle native Knox and Italian computer student Raffaele Sollecito had appealed against a 2009 verdict that found them guilty of murdering 21-year-old Kercher during what prosecutors said was a drug-fueled sexual assault.

Looking pale and tense as the sentence was read

Salacious details

► A powerful lobbying campaign changed perceptions of Knox from the promiscuous "Foxy Knoxy" of early media reports and the cold-blooded, sex-obsessed "she-devil" portrayed by prosecutors.

► Prosecutors said the victim resisted attempts by Knox to involve her in an orgy.

out in a packed Perugia court room, Knox was led away in tears and close to collapse by police officers.

The court quashed the conviction against Knox, who was sentenced to 26

► The court upheld a conviction against Knox for slander for falsely accusing barman Patrick Lumumba. It sentenced her to three years in prison, which has already been served.

years in jail, and against Sollecito, who was sentenced to 25 years, after independent forensic investigators sharply criticized police scientific evidence, saying it was unreliable.

Kercher's half-naked body, with more than 40 wounds and a deep gash in the throat, was found in 2007 in the apartment she shared with Knox in Perugia. REUTERS

Alcopop potency settled

WASHINGTON. Supersized Four Loko drinks, beloved by college students as a "blackout in a can," have the same amount of alcohol as four to five beers. Packaging that compares them to one or two beers will be changed under a U.S. government settlement.

The Federal Trade Commission, which investigates complaints about deceptive advertising, said yesterday that Four Loko drinks, made by privately held Phusion Projects LLC, were highly alcoholic.

"Deception about alcohol content is dangerous to consumers," said David Vladeck, director of the agency's Bureau of Consumer Protection. REUTERS

Alexis Stewart gabs in new book

Martha Stewart is getting the "Mommie Dearest" treatment from daughter Alexis Stewart in a new memoir, "Whateverland: Learning to Live Here," which will be released later this month. "Martha does everything better! You can't win!" Alexis writes in the book, according to the Daily Mail. "If I didn't do something perfectly, I had to do it again. I grew up with a glue gun pointed at my head." Alexis also makes some startling revelations about the domestic diva's hygiene, revealing in the book that Martha "always peed with the door open." "I remember saying, 'You know, now I have friends over! You can't do that anymore! It's gotta stop! My friends' parents don't do it! Give me a break here! I don't feel like being embarrassed! It's exhausting! I'm a kid! Stop!'"

Oh my, it must have been so hard for you, Alexis. Can you imagine? What it must have been like growing up fabulously wealthy, never wanting for a single thing, but sometimes having to witness your mother (whose fortune you seem to happily feed off of, even at the age of 46) going to the bathroom with the door open?

Really, you should get Jaycee Lee Dugard on the phone to compare notes on your awful childhoods.

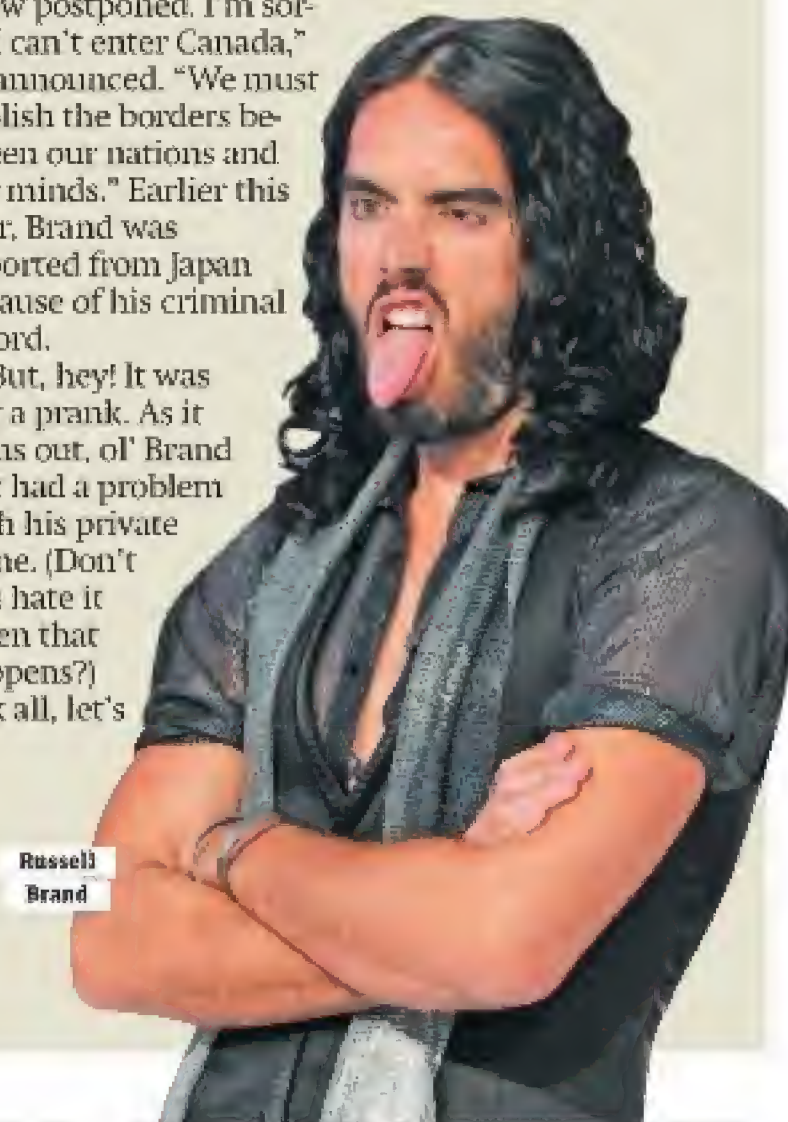

Russell Brand needs to work on his jokes

British comedian Russell Brand had to cancel a sold-out show in Canada after customs officials wouldn't allow him entry into the country, he wrote on Twitter. "Tonight's Casino Rama show postponed. I'm sorry. I can't enter Canada," he announced. "We must abolish the borders between our nations and our minds." Earlier this year, Brand was deported from Japan because of his criminal record.

But, hey! It was just a prank. As it turns out, ol' Brand just had a problem with his private plane. (Don't you hate it when that happens?) "Ok all, let's be clear, @rustyrocks is still in Cali, he never left, he has no immigration or border issue, it was a tech issue with plane!" Casino Rama announced on its own Twitter account.

We're sure the thousands of Canadian fans left hanging found his humor (or is it just a straight-out lie?) hilarious.

Talking points

Biel and Timberlake: Still hanging

Exes Jessica Biel and Justin Timberlake continue to enjoy spending time together, heading to Las Vegas for a charity golf event Timberlake was taking part in, according to People magazine. The pair, who split earlier this year, also made time for dinner with six other friends at Mastro's Ocean Club, where they were spotted "sitting close together" during dinner and leaving together.

Rogan got hitched

Seth Rogan celebrated the release of his new film, "50/50," by marrying his longtime girlfriend, writer Lauren Miller, at Kunde Estate in Sonoma, Calif., according to Us Weekly. "The wedding was more laughs than anything else," a source says of the three-day celebration. "Every other line was a joke and the crowd couldn't contain their laughter. It was nonstop fun!" That's not surprising, given that the guest list included Judd Apatow and his wife, Leslie Mann, as well as Jonah Hill, Paul Rudd and "The Office" star Craig Robinson.

Arquette moves on

A year after his split from estranged wife Courteney Cox, David Arquette has found someone new. The current "Dancing with the Stars" contestant is dating Christina

McLarty, who was previously married to "Girls Gone Wild" impresario Joe Francis, according to People. "I'm not one to run around with different girls," Arquette told Howard Stern. "I like someone that makes me feel good and that I can make feel good."

Actually, we've got it pretty good

► For all of our complaining about the state of the world, psychologist and author Steven Pinker notes we're doing great ► The reason for his sunny outlook? ► We're probably not going to die a violent death

Despite the fatalistic cries of politicians, preachers and news anchors, we may actually be living in the least-violent period of human civilization. Experimental psychologist/author Steven Pinker traces the decline of violence in his weighty new book, "The Better Angels of Our Nature," though he admits that his findings seem a bit counterintuitive.

"There's a quirk of the human mind that we estimate how dangerous something is by how easily we can think of examples," Pinker says. "Well, it's easy to think of examples of things blowing up and massacres and serial killers and senseless violence. It's not so easy to conjure up images of all those people who died peacefully in bed."

Still, more of us are doing just that than our ancestors did. With hard numbers and a quick wit, Pinker recounts just how risky daily life was in the "good old days," from a recap of unpleasantness throughout the Bible to the nastiness underlying the supposedly courtly era of knights and damsels in distress (usually, it turns out, from other knights).

Pinker hesitates to predict whether the trend will continue, and says he's written not a book of optimism but gratitude.

"Most of us are extremely lucky to be living in the current era, where any one of us has a very small chance of dying violently. That wasn't always true of human history. But I don't think we're going to go back to burning heretics at the stake any time soon."

Seeking the 'Aleph' with Paulo

► Paulo Coelho's latest book, "Aleph," has already reached No. 1 in Brazil, Turkey, Spain and Finland.

► The latest book from the immensely successful author finds him on a journey into his psyche ► What his wife thought about his bond with Paulo Coelho needs no introduction: The Brazilian author has sold more than 100 million books worldwide and holds the world record for most translated books by a living author. His latest novel, "Aleph," is an autobiographical account of his journey across the Trans-Siberian railroad — and time and space — in search of spiritual fulfillment [the title refers to an enlightening experience he encountered during his trek]. Coelho recently spoke with us from Geneva, Switzerland.

I read it took you four years to gather the material for this book, but only three weeks to write it. Can you talk about putting it together?

I decided to travel for three months, nonstop, and I had this experience, this "Aleph." I lived through, well, things that are very difficult to explain in a book. One year ago I said to myself, "I'm never going to write about this, it is impossible to explain." My agent said, "You're never going to write about this?" I said it is impossible. When I returned, I don't know what happened, but I sat down and I start writing. When she called me two and a half weeks later, I said, "You know this book I said I'm never going to write? I'm almost in the end of it."

Q&A

Were you nervous about sharing so many intimate details about your life?

I was not nervous but I was a little bit uncomfortable. I felt, "Oh my God, well, I should cut here, I should cut there." Then I said, "This is so useless. You put your soul into it or you don't. You cannot tell the half-truth. Half-truth is not the whole truth. Just say whatever you have to say, and trust your readers."

this book. What was your wife's reaction to that?

So positive, oh my God. We are very honest with each other. She wants the best for me, so why should she be uncomfortable or unhappy if she knows that I put my soul in my book?

You had a whole other life as a lyricist before becoming a novelist. How did you decide to take that leap of faith and change careers?

Well, I always knew that my dream was to be a writer — that's why I was put three times in a mental institution by my parents when I was young. Then I was writing lyrics for songs, and that you can make a lot of money off of. So when I was 30 years old I was successful, but I was not happy. And so I took this pilgrimage from France to Spain on this old ancient road called El Camino de Santiago. Then, at the end of El Camino, I said, "OK, I have one more chance in my life: Either I renounce forever the idea of becoming a writer, or I stop doing everything that I'm doing now and I write." Thanks to God and with the support of my wife, I quit everything I was doing. I wrote my first book when I was 40 years old. I think we all have a kind of mid-life crisis, when you look at yourself in the mirror and say, "Am I betraying myself?" My midlife crisis brought me this epiphany to be faithful to my bliss. You've released books online and you're the second-most influential Twitter user in the world, only behind Justin Bieber. Did you know the Internet was going to play a large role in your career?

I did not know. In 2006 I started writing a blog, and then I started getting feedback from readers, which I never thought I would have. I need the reader not as a reader only but as a person who understands my soul. Things that I post and tweet or Facebook or [write] in my blog, I cannot write a book about. I adapt to new platforms as a challenge. One has to be challenged by life. I may be old in age but not in curiosity, so it's so good to have this challenge. It gives me a lot of joy.

- ▶ Tennis pro takes over for Jillian Michaels this season
- ▶ 'I'm not trying to prove myself by any means,' she says

▶ Kournikova

How do you make the 12th season of a reality show feel fresh? By bringing in new judges. Season 12 of "The Biggest Loser" (Tuesday, 8 p.m., NBC) is in action, and stepping in where Jillian Michaels left her sneakers are tennis superstar Anna Kournikova and personal trainer Dolvett Quince. For Kournikova, the chance to coach instead of be coached was one she didn't want to miss out on.

"I was the one that went after this opportunity," the former No. 8 player in the world says. "I've used my body as a tool my whole life on a tennis court. Instead of listening to all the information, [I'm now] voicing it to the contestants."

The tough-girl training style of Michaels was a hit with viewers, but Kournikova says she "didn't feel any pressure" stepping in. "I didn't feel like I was replacing anyone," she adds. "I'm not trying to prove myself by any means. I'm just there to do my part of the job."

For those wary of Kournikova — a buxom blonde who hasn't found much recent success on the court — taking the reins, she's eager to set the record straight: "Listen, I get criticized and judged all the time," she says. "That's how I tell the contestants I can relate to them. The only thing I can control is I can work hard [and] be the best human I can."

This season, contestants are facing off in a "Battle of the Ages," with Kournikova coaching the over-50 crowd. She's hoping they remember her advice once the cameras stop rolling.

"I made sure they get the tools and the education to take home," she says, "because sooner or later everybody is going home."

Sensing your way through New York City

► New exhibition 'Dialog in the Dark' leads visitors on a tour of the city — in pitch black ► Ladies: Leave your heels at home for this educational experience

"Dialog in the Dark," a new exhibition now open at the South Street Seaport, encourages you to see the city in a whole new light — or, actually, to not see it at all. The tour allows you to experience New York City from the perspective of someone who is blind. You are tasked with relying on your senses of smell, hearing and touch in order to identify and examine your surroundings.

They're not kidding about the dark part. After you watch a brief explanatory video (and sign a waiver saying it's not their fault if you freak out inside!) the lights go down — all the way down. It's so dark that when you put your hand in front of you, you can no longer see it.

Small groups are led on hour-long tours by blind or visually impaired guides, who use the sound of their voice (and the occasional hand-holding) to lead you through the exhibition. You'll also have a cane to help you find your way. Along the route you'll experience classic New York City locales — Central Park, Times Square, a crowded Fairway market, even a moving subway car! — without the use of sight. But you won't be left to fend for yourself — your tour guide will make it interactive, playing guessing games in the grocery store and helping you find a seat on the exhibition's subway car. Once the tour concludes, the lights are slowly brought back on, and you are invited to ask your guide questions about what it's like to live with a visual impairment. On the way out, you can read more about your tour guide (as well as the others) and learn about blindness, its causes and the efforts modern medicine is making to eradicate it.

Opening weekend of Paris Fashion Week

Most unrealistic expectations

Kanye West's debut

West's runway debut lived up to the hype. His show was painfully exclusive: Anna Win-tour, the Olsens, Alexander Wang — the list goes on. The stars fashion credibility was loud and clear, but the quality of his clothes was inconsistent. The collection felt like summer one moment — sexy white dresses with skin-baring cut-outs — and winter the next — heavy, fur-embellished jackets. His slouchy trousers seemed to hang on the models in unfortunate ways. Bottom line: Just because you spend time with important fashion people doesn't mean you can design a cohesive collection.

Sexiest collection

Stella McCartney's leg-loving looks

For spring, Stella McCartney continued the seductive streak she started for fall, only she replaced last season's body-con, sheer dresses with crisp, A-line dresses and coat dresses that revealed miles of leg. They were sporty with a flourish; each look came with contrasting colored swirls that surfed their way along the hemline and up the torso. The visual detail was also used to update her trousers suits, which have by now become a staple in every collection. KENYA HUNT

Mixed bag on OWS protesters

RE: "NO SOCIAL NET FOR PROTESTERS": I'm struggling to understand Mr. Minkin's point. Is he arguing that civic engagement and protest should be punished, or is he suggesting that only certain types of people should be allowed to protest? Those are the only interpretations of his letter I can conceive.

JOSEPH CONNELL, BROWNSVILLE

As usual, those who are gainfully employed or in retirement living the illusion of security make such statements like yours. Reality is, you could get all the training or have all the experience in the world, it's the "unemployed" part that puts you in the same trash can as a felon or misdemeanor possession charge. While Wall Street gets their breaks, Main Street gets moldy crumbs.

CHERIE KING, VIA E-MAIL

Occupy Wall Street protesters need to be told that in order for the youth of today find work, instead of sitting in a park being unhappy, they need to learn a new language and emigrate to any of the countries where the previously American work went to. Corporate America is never going to bring any work back to the U.S.

JOAN DANIEL, EAST VILLAGE

That young people with a good education and no job cannot find anything better to do with their time but to sit down and Occupy Wall Street is the very proof that education doesn't work. So, the hell with all of this leftist talk. Let the "job creators" create whatever it is that they create and everyone else can just take a short walk off the Brooklyn Bridge.

SUZY SANDOR, NEW YORK

With a name like "Garold," I immediately suspected your parents were closely related; then your words removed all doubt. I hope you get fired and find yourself in the same circumstances that most of America and the Occupy Wall Streeters find themselves in today.

J.D. DUCAS, VIA E-MAIL

Real men wary of pink

RE: "NOT YOUR MOM'S BREAST CANCER": Disgusting presentation. The fact is that the great big hoopla about women's susceptibility to breast cancer has resulted in the medical establishment considering it a disease to be born female. Very often cysts would not become cancerous if left alone. The pink campaign may be well-intended, but it's not based on science.

LUCY MARTINEZ, NEW YORK

Horoscope

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. There is a strong possibility that both you and your associates will have low flash points. You can't do anything about any grumbling but your own.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Nothing can be resolved if you don't bring issues out into the open, where friends and family alike can help. The worst time to restrict their input is when you need assistance.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. Take the edge off the pressure by paying down at least a small portion of an outstanding financial obligation. Letting it fester will lead to infection.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Use your feistiness and be assertive by pushing for everyone's interests instead of your own. That way others will be in your corner, helping you.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. This might not be one of those lucky days when you'll be able to get others to help you. But others might be fortunate in getting you to help bear their heavy burdens.

♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. Be diplomatic if you encounter someone who used to be a friend but with whom you've had a falling out. If you wish to keep your good standing with the rest of your pals, you need to play it cool.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. It behooves you not to be demanding or abrasive when handling a complicated matter. If you act like a real wisenheimer, you'll be left alone to fend for yourself.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Don't let a heated discussion develop by trying to force your opinions onto someone who has told you that he or she isn't buying what you're selling.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Even when encouraged to do so by someone who has made it big, don't take any unreasonable risks pertaining to your financial affairs. Let others do the gambling.

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Hold off until you feel comfortable if you find yourself being squeezed into making an important decision under pressure. Take all the time you need to balance your alternatives.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Use your common sense when it comes to working with unfamiliar tools or materials. Be sensible about taking safety precautions.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. If you're one of the more serious Virgos out there, try to take lightly anything that is meant simply as a joke. It's to your advantage to chortle along with the crowd. BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Catskills: Open for business

► The beauty of Catskill State Park. For more information on the area, go to www.greatnortherncatskills.com.

- Hurricane Irene tried her best to sink the region
- But with a little cleanup, the area is ready for visitors

Where to ...

Visit: Right now, the region is resplendent in spectacular fall foliage. Greene County is home to five of the ten highest Catskill peaks and Catskill State Park. There are hikes for every activity level, but we especially recommend hiking the Kaaterskill Falls Trail, a popular day hike which takes you past the highest falls in New York. The recently opened Hunter Mountain Zipline tour has been very popular with families and is a great — and adventurous — way to see the beauty of the Northern Catskills.

Stay: There are many quaint inns or bed and breakfasts in the area, many of which don't require a two-night stay, meaning it's great for a super quick getaway. But we especially recommend Fairlawn Inn, with its comfortable, handsome rooms and a delicious, local breakfast in the morning. It was recently given a three-leaf eco-rating in from Audubon International and I Love NY.

Tips for traveling with teens

Fodor's
Tips

Advice

Give teens some freedom: All-inclusives and cruises give older kids their first taste of independence. The finite space of a boat or resort means a rare opportunity to play and dine at will.

It may seem that just yesterday you were packing diapers and stuffed animals, but even older kids require some special considerations on vacation.

Give yourself peace of mind: Organized activities entertain teens while allowing parents to keep track of them. Many resorts now offer teen clubs, exclusive spots open only to certain ages. Such clubs are often equipped with soft drinks, game rooms, karaoke and dance floors.

Set a budget: Motorized sports are the mama of all extras. Teenagers will zero in on them the moment they arrive. Jet Skiing and parasailing can cost upward of $60 an hour. Little things like soft drinks and virgin cocktails — $1 to $5 each — not to mention arcade games, can add up in a hurry, especially since they're often bought with resort charge cards that don't seem like actual money. Use prepaid cards when possible.

Plan ahead for a drama-free vacation with your teen.

Bring a friend: Nothing entertains a kid like another kid. Talk to the parents of the potential guest. Agree on who's paying for what, and how much supervision will be offered. Written permission — signed by the guest's parents and notarized — is needed to fly. Such documentation, plus insurance info, is also needed to get health care in an emergency.

Cruz controversy still talk with Giants

The Giants earned a tie atop the NFC East with Sunday's win in Arizona, but most of the talk yesterday was still about how they won.

The controversial call, which allowed the Giants to maintain possession late in the fourth quarter despite replays showing wideout Victor Cruz stumbling and haphazardly dropping the ball, was still all the talk.

"I assure you it was as much fun watching the end of the game on tape as it was [Sunday] night," Coughlin said. "Say what you want about that [Cruz] play, but our guys kept playing. We had a lot of guys step up in the end, like [tight end Jake] Ballard, Victor Cruz and Hakeem Nicks."

Still, Coughlin was pressed about the Cruz play. "You're not going to get any more out of me on this one. I'm standing by the way the rule is interpreted by the officials," he said. "And if you look at it again, there's no question he was giving himself up and on his way back to the huddle."

TONY WILLIAMS

'CY'-YA LATER

► Presumptive Cy Young winner Verlander outduels Sabathia ► Yanks now one game from elimination ► Former Twin Young hits game-winner

The plan went completely according to plan for the Yankees. And then they moved on to the second inning.

New York dropped a pivotal Game 3 to the Tigers, 5-4, and now stand one loss from elimination with the mercurial A.J. Burnett as the Game 4 starter.

The Yankees pounced on Justin Verlander in the first inning with a lead-off single from Derek Jeter and a triple from Curtis Granderson to take a 1-0 lead. Alex Rodriguez put the Yankees up 2-0 on an RBI groundout.

After that, Verlander, who won the AL Triple Crown in pitching, settled in and dominated the Yankee lineup until the seventh inning. Verlander walked Jorge Posada, hit Russell Martin with a 100-mph fast-ball and surrendered a double to Brett Gardner that tied the game.

► CC Sabathia struggled through 6 1/3 innings, while Justin Verlander struck out 11 batters in eight innings.

Verlander didn't have much time for regret though.

Rafael Soriano, who relieved CC Sabathia in the sixth, gave up a solo home run to Delmon Young in the bottom of the seventh that would prove to be the game-winner. Jose Valverde closed it out in the ninth for Detroit.

Burnett

Pressure rests on Burnett

The player Yankee fans would least like to see on the mound in a deciding game is A.J. Burnett.

Would closing your eyes work?

Down 2-1 in the series and on the road, it will be just that man taking the mound in a do-or-die scenario.

Burnett was due to pitch out of the bullpen this series, but thanks to the Game 1 rain delay Burnett was moved to the rotation. METRO

Williams is pulled from MNF

NFL. If you thought something was missing from last night's Monday Night Football telecast, you're right.

Long-time opener Hank Williams Jr. and his song "All My Rowdy Friends" was pulled after the singer compared President Barack Obama to Adolf Hitler on Fox News' "Fox and Friends." The song had opened the telecast since 1991. METRO

Rangers take 2-1 lead over Rays

► Mike Napoli connects for a two-run homer in the seventh.

For awhile it looked like David Price would single-handedly pitch the Rays to a 2-1 lead in their ALDS matchup against the Rangers. That changed in the seventh inning.

Price allowed just four hits and no runs through six innings. In the seventh, the Rays allowed four runs.

That is all the Rangers would need to win 4-3 and grab a 2-1 series lead heading into Game 4 this afternoon.

Price allowed a single to Adrian Beltre to lead off the seventh and then former Angels catcher

Mike Napoli put the Rangers in the lead with a two-run home run. Four more batters would reach base in the inning, with two more runs scoring.

The Rays mounted a rally in both the eighth and ninth inning. Desmond Jennings, who gave the Rays an early 1-0 lead with a homer in the fourth, hit his second homer in the eighth.

A key thrown-out stealing of B.J. Upton and two strikeouts by Johnny Damon and Ben Zobrist ended the eighth-inning threat.

Neftali Feliz earned a four-out save. METRO

Lions, QB Stafford showing tremendous progression

National analysis

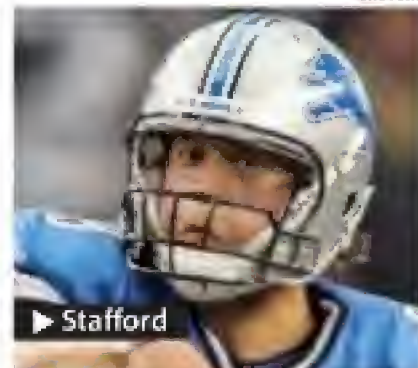

The Lions have become synonymous with adversity. Since 2001, they've gone an NFL-worst 43-121. Fast forward to 2011:

Detroit is 4-0. Matthew Stafford has picked up most of the attention, improving the Lions from an 82.0 passer rating in 2010 to 111.5 this year. The defense is much better, too.

Even still, Detroit has faced adversity. But now they're responding to it.

Sunday's roar from a 27-3 deficit against Dallas was the Lions' second straight 20-point comeback.

Falling behind is never a recipe for success, but Detroit's ability to complete these comebacks is a huge testament to how far they've come.

But can they keep it up? Nine of the Lions' 12 remaining games are against teams that are .500 or better so far.

More adversity? Go figure. ERIK FRENZ

Stafford has thrown for 11 touchdowns and three interceptions this season. He's just two TDs away from his career high in 2009.

Sanchez not quite ready to be the 'Sanchise' yet

This was supposed to be the season that Mark Sanchez would grow and develop into an elite quarterback.

Sanchez has been surrounded by as much star talent as any quarterback in the league in his two years playing within the system. The Jets quarterback was supposed to start leading this team with his play.

But as Sunday night's loss at M&T Bank Stadium showed, he is not yet the "Sanchise." Not even close.

"I mean, he struggled mightily. There's no question about it — he had a 30.5 rating," head coach

"I think we rattled him and got him off his mark, and we were able to make plays off of him."

DT HALOTI NGATA, RAVENS

Rex Ryan said. "It wasn't his best day, but he's our quarterback and I believe in him."

Ryan continues to believe Sanchez is a player who can elevate this team, but right now he can't. He is still very much a system quarterback and when the team's flaws are exposed, he isn't a good enough player to rise up and carry the team quite yet.

"I think we just wanted to get him to try and beat us in this game. Once we knew they were going to start passing, we just pinned our ears back and tried to get to him as fast as we could," defensive tackle Haloti Ngata said.

The Ravens stated that they wanted to get after Sanchez and rattle him, something they did on the first play of the Jets' opening drive when safety Ed Reed hit Sanchez on the blindside, forcing a fumble and getting a fast seven points on the board for the Ravens.

"Obviously, there are some things that need to change — they have to change. It's evident," wide receiver Derrick Mason said. "Until we identify the cracks, we're going to keep having the same problems."

KRISTIAN DYER
sports@metro.us

► Sanchez was sacked four times by the Ravens.

Sovereign Bank is a Member FDIC and a wholly owned subsidiary of Banco Santander, S.A. © 2011 Sovereign Bank | Sovereign and Santander, its logo and FlexLock are registered trademarks of Sovereign Bank and Santander, respectively, or their affiliates or subsidiaries in the United States and other countries. *To get the FlexLock Home Equity Line of Credit Fixed Introductory APR and variable "go to" APR shown, you must apply between 9/26/11 and 12/31/11, must have or open a Sovereign checking account, and use automatic payment (ePay) from that account. To get the variable "go to" APR shown, you must obtain a credit line of $100,000-$750,000. The introductory APR will apply only during the first 12 billing cycles after your FlexLock line is opened. Thereafter, the APR, including the APR on any existing balance, will convert to the applicable variable "go to" APR. The "go to" APR on FlexLock line may vary monthly based on the latest U.S. Prime Rate as published in The Wall Street Journal as of the first business day of the month, plus a margin of 1.24% (now 4.49% APR). Maximum APR is 18%. Minimum APR is 3.24%. After the Introductory APR expires, the interest rate will increase by 0.25% if ePay is discontinued. FlexLock Lines with lower credit limits are available. Contact us for information about applicable rates and other terms. All APRs assume that your total mortgage loans, including your FlexLock line, do not exceed 80% of the value of your 1 - 4 family owner-occupied residential property in NY. Other rates and terms apply to co-ops. There is a $450 termination fee if you close the line within 36 months. An annual fee, if any, will be charged during the Draw Period, and will be $0, $25 or $50, depending on the Sovereign deposit account you maintain, and may change if you change the deposit account. The annual fee will equal $0 as long as you maintain a Sovereign Premier, Business Owner, Premier or Premier Partnership Checking Account or Premier Money Market Savings Account. An annual fee of $25 will be charged as long as you maintain a Sovereign Preferred or Preferred Partnership Checking Account or Preferred Money Market Savings Account. An annual fee of $50 will be charged if you do not maintain one of the above deposit accounts. A $175 non-refundable fee will be charged if your property is held in trust. Mortgage recording tax will be paid by Sovereign, but must be reimbursed if the line is closed within 36 months. There is a $50 fixed rate lock fee for each lock-in request. Property insurance is, and flood insurance may be, required. FlexLock account use is subject to the terms of the Sovereign Home Equity Line of Credit Agreement, including terms that permit lines to be suspended, reduced or terminated in certain circumstances. Maximum line amount is $750,000. If your home is on the market for sale at the time of application, you are not eligible for this offer. Offer not available if you have received an introductory rate on a FlexLock line within 12 months of your application date. APRs and other terms accurate as of 9/26/11 and may change thereafter. Applications subject to approval. Check with your tax advisor. N0047NY 9/11
